Research Interests

Sales Management: Especially B2B markets, with interests spanning: Key Account Management, motivation via incentive programs; factors affecting commitment, turnover, and sales force productivity; identifying managerial and company characteristics associated with enhanced productivity. Current projects include examining sales manager favoritism effects on salespeople, sexism in sales management and the legal and ethical implications of sales manager behaviors, and the dark side of requiring salespeople to use new technologies.

International: China is my primary country of focus. I have published two papers on the topic of key account management (KAM) in China. Work continues in this area, with data collected from over 200 executives involved in KAM.

Supply Chain/Relationship Management: Papers involve power-based behaviors between supply chain partners, including the implications for engagement due to differing national and organizational cultures.

Quality Management: A theme that is at the core of all of the above focal areas. My interest in this area has led to articles in academic and trade journals, with each urging a total quality mandate for all functional areas, especially marketing. Current project uses dynamic capabilities and stakeholder theory to examine the sensing, seizing, and transforming activities of Baldrige Quality in Health Care Category Award Winners (Hospitals) to identify best practices for superior health care.

Invited Presentations & Seminars

2018 April. Associated Engineering, Edmonton Office. Customer Centricity
Workshops; two half-day programs speaking with AE team members.

The sessions were wonderful!

Thank you,

Sara Debaji, B.Comm; Human Resources Coordinator

Good to hear it went well. I know the customer centric perspective would have been something new for many in the audience - which underscores the importance of these sessions.

Thanks for two great sessions!

Garry Drachenberg, Vice President, Water Solutions,

2018 April. Associated Engineering, Saskatoon Office. Customer Centricity
Workshop; half-day program speaking to 20 AE team members, including their YPs (Young Professionals), leading him to request this additional workshop.
Following the workshop, Don sent: Marketing and Business Development
Director for both offices, sent the following:

Thanks so much Will. We appreciate your enthusiasm and passion - your presentation is engaging and has been well received by all whom have attended.

Don George, P.Eng
Marketing and Business Development Director

2018 March. Associated Engineering, Saskatoon Office. Customer Centricity
Workshop; half-day program speaking to 25 AE engineers and staff. Following the successful workshop in Vancouver (November, 2017), I received calls from AE regional offices for conducting similar workshops, beginning with the Saskatoon office and continuing with Regina and Edmonton Offices.

2018 March. Associated Engineering, Regina Office. Customer Centricity
Workshop; half-day program speaking to 15 AE engineers and staff.

2017 November. Saskatchewan Teachers Federation Organizational Day: Growing as One STF; Member Centricity workshop; half-day to 125 members of the Saskatchewan Teachers' Federation at Prairieland Park. Shortly after, I received a note from Ashley Drozda (Executive Education Edwards School of Business) and Tracy Young-McLean, Managing Director at STF).

I spoke to Tracy and she felt that the day went really well. She hasn't heard any negative feedback. For the organization, the day went well, and you came for the afternoon and "fit like a glove". Everyone seemed to be really engaged. People have come to her and said they enjoyed it. (this is positive, considering they are a quiet group). In our eyes, this is a successful in-house session. Thank you for helping us deliver it to STF! Looking forward to working with you again soon. (Ashley)

We certainly enjoyed having you work with our group! We do not do a formal evaluation, but the comments regarding the day, and your portion of the day, have been very positive! (Tracy)

2017 November. Associated Engineering. Customer Centricity Workshop; half-day program speaking to 90 AE engineers and senior staff. In the month prior to the phone call I met with AE leadership, visited the company website, and customized a program specific to their needs. I then flew to Vancouver, where their group was gathered for a two day meeting. Following the first day, I continued to adapt my teaching materials for the workshop I would be running on Saturday. The workshop was delivered to enthusiastic response. Shortly after, Garry Drachenberg, Vice President, sent me the following note:

Hello Will, Thanks so much for such a thought provoking and truly relevant workshop that hit the touch points I was hoping for and so much more. Your heartfelt, sincere and intentioned effort to "genuinely help us" was evident in spades. It truly helped. Thanks for making a difference and a very impactful contribution.

Garry Drachenberg, Vice President

2017 June, July. USASK; Working with ICT leadership at the University of Saskatchewan, I customized a program on customer centricity that incorporated ideas from Disney and Vanderbilt Customer Service workshops (one of the ICT leaders had attended workshops from these providers, leading to the request to incorporate some of the concepts from these programs). Collectively, six programs were delivered to ICT, with each attended by about 35 members of the ICT team. These programs are intended to advance ICT's aspirations of becoming more customer focused, enabling them to bring high levels of satisfaction to the clients they serve.

Following the ICT programs I received positive feedback – it seems that participants found good value through the sessions.

2017 April. CPBI (Canadian Pension & Benefits Institute), Saskatchewan 2017 Regional Conference, TCU Place; Presented to group of approximately 150 delegates (public and private sector pension and benefit plan sponsors, trustees, and administrators, insurance providers, wealth managers, brokers, consultants and other industry professionals). Session was titled Customer-Centricity is the Path to Greatness (April).

2016 November. Saskatchewan Mutual Insurance; two half-day programs, each with approximately 30 personnel, focused on building a more Customer-Centric business. Instructor Rating overall, 4.89/5.00.

- 2016 February. USASK; Half day with College of Kinesiology Recreation Services. The session was spent with the Director, Coordinators, Assistants, Student Staff (approximately 20 people in total).
- 2015 November. USASK; Half day with the Vice-President Finance and Resources (Greg Fowler) his leadership team (Cheryl Carver – Human Resources; Colin Tennent- Facilities Management; Shari Baraniuk – IT; Quintin Zook – Consumer Services; Judy Yungwirth – Corporate Administration; Jeffrey Dumba – Financial Services) and their leadership teams (approximately 40 people in total). We talked about institutional priorities, of which transitioning to a customer-centered culture is an important theme.
- 2015 September. W3 Conference. 45 minute talk at a breakfast meeting with ~80 attendees at the W3 Conference (comprised of Western University Financial Officers, Western Universities Supply Management Association, Western Association of Resource Planners). This was coordinated by Patrusia Rudy, Admin. Assistant to the Associate Vice President, Financial Services.

Case Study Developed for International Business Classes

Murphy, William H. (2016), "Handling the Unexpected While Striving for a Total Quality Supply Chain: An SME in Action" This case has been successfully used with an MBA class in IB. It is a multi-part case bringing to light issues in strategy, marketing, international supply chains (Chinese suppliers, transport companies, 3rd party QA firms, insurance carrier), and recovery activities following product failure. I also used it to introduce systems thinking related to operational excellence. It was developed from site visits to an SME; transcripts, extensive notes and company-provided documents, as well as pics/images evolved into a five-part case.
